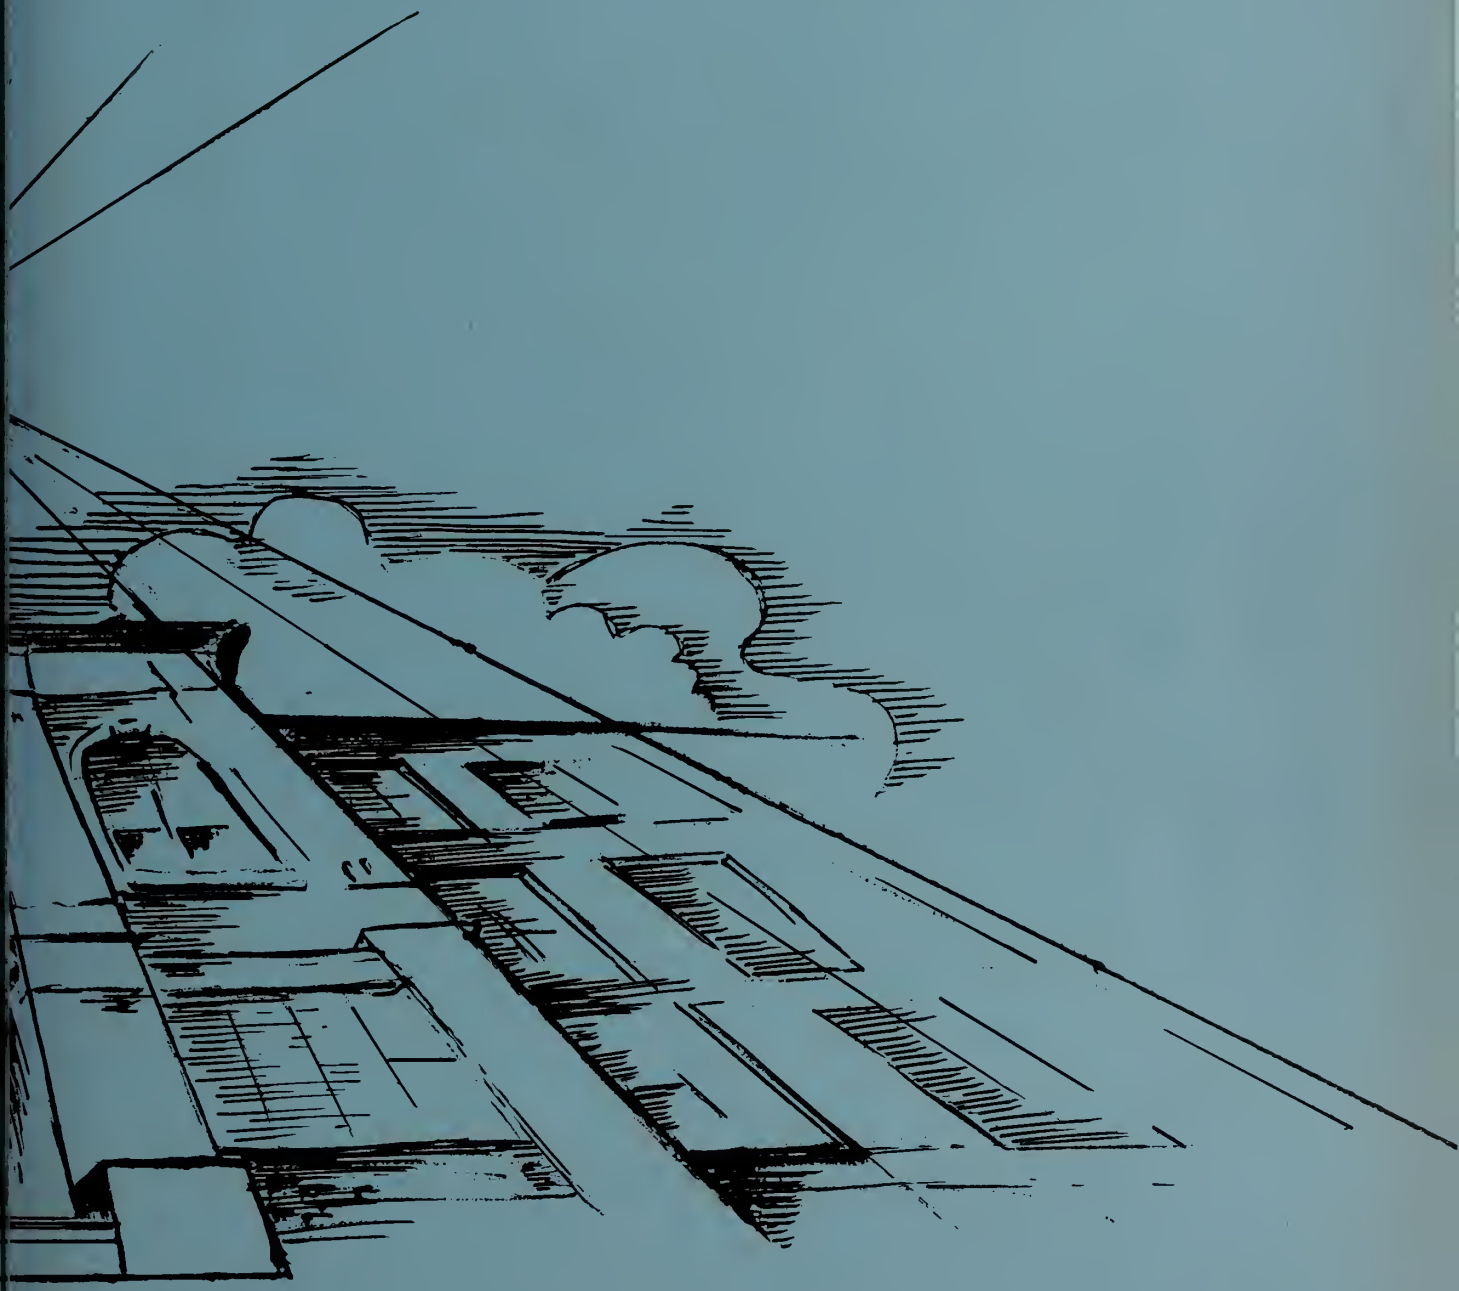
PESKE TUK 69



PESKE TUK 69

Turners Falls High School
Turners Falls, Massachusetts

We, the class of 1969, have chosen to address this yearbook to the ideals of one man — Robert Francis Kennedy. We believe that, during his lifetime, he upheld the highest goal of the young people, which is truth. For too long the world has been witness to hypocrisy and cold war. Robert Kennedy presented to the young and to the world his policy of freedom with justice of love without fear, and of hope for the brotherhood of all men.

By means of photography we are relating our past experiences to his memorable words which live on within the tradition of the class of 1969. In portraying his beliefs, we are presenting our own and those of all young people.

For we have entwined his beliefs in our hearts and we have honored his creed throughout our years at Turners Falls High School.

"Our answer is the world's hope: it is to rely on youth."

"Each time a man stands up for an ideal . . . . . he sends forth a tiny ripple of hope . . . . ."

". . . we would look back

with pride

at the lives

we lead . . ."

". . . the sharpest criticism often goes hand in hand with the deepest idealism . . ."

"Our future may lie beyond our vision but it is not completely beyond our control."

PEACE ON E

". . . there is no basic inconsistency between ideals and realistic possibilities."

". . . a great effort to try to understand one another, to reach each other across barriers that exist."

". . . youth looks with other eyes, and their view is very different."

". . . not a time of life but a state of mind, a temper of the will, a quality of the imagination."

". . . a predominance of courage over timidity, of appetite for adventure over the love of ease."

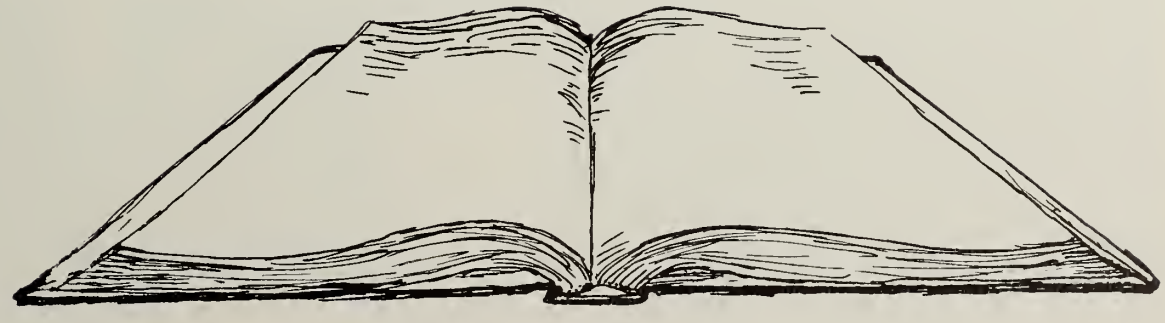
". . . but the work of our hands, matched to reason and principle, that will determine destiny."

Academics



Administration

Principal Ray Franklin and Superintendent William Cook continued to strive for many new improvements in the educational system this past year. Some of the more successful of their programs were the computerization of all school records and the Unstructured Time Activity Choice Program which included the Intensive Study, Selective Instruction, Conversational Study, Student Lounge, and the Guidance Study. At the same time, they have been constantly adding to and updating the curriculum. All these forward moves in education have been planned to fit into the proposed Gill-Montague Regional school towards which this administration has long been working. Mr. James Humphrey, Administrative Assistant, was once again aiding Mr. Cook in all his endeavors. This year there was also a new addition to the administration. Mr. Eugene Seaver filled the newly developed post of Assistant Principal. He ably assisted Mr. Franklin, especially in the areas of discipline and student activities. Mrs. Madeline Beaubien and Mrs. Agnes Krol, administrative secretaries at the high school, completed the forward looking, efficient administration that TFHS was fortunate to have guiding it this year.

Guidance

Tucked away in a small cubicle on the first floor, is the TFHS Guidance Office. Mr. Dana Prouty and Mrs. Rosemary Maddern, counselors, agree that this department, although small in size, was the center of hectic activity with students hunting down career information, awaiting the latest test results, or desperately trying to meet application deadlines. To help the students decide their future plans, the Guidance Department has installed new equipment which includes the Viewdeck and Occupational Information Tapes. They also sponsored the Occupational Information Sessions in the afternoon.

Another essential part of TFHS is the Cafeteria Staff. Mrs. Marion Britton fed the hungry students with the assistance of Mrs. Lorraine Cadran, Mrs. Ernestine Charron, Mrs. Helen Verrier and Mrs. Antoinette Aitken. Each day they prepared approximately 400 hot lunches which provided an enjoyable improvement compared to the bag lunches.

Mr. Otto F. Janda, known as "Otto", worked each day to keep TFHS clean. Among the usual and varied jobs were, cleaning the floors, replacing burnt out lights, and opening stubborn lockers for distraught students.

Yet another important area of the school is the library. This past year TFHS welcomed a new librarian, Mr. Charles Hoyt. Each year the library strives to meet the growing demands of the student body. The library served as a study hall for students electing intensive study or who had research to do among the library's expanding facilities.

Languages

Miss Louise May Clark
University of Vermont, A.B.
Latin I, II, III, IV

Language students were surprised this past year to find many innovations in the Language Department, headed by Miss Louise Clark. For the first time in many years there were separate Latin III and Latin IV classes. Both in French II and Latin I new textbooks were introduced, which gave the students a new approach to speaking and understanding the language. Eventually the books will be uniform throughout the classes. In all three languages; French, Spanish and Latin, the civilization of the peoples was stressed. New teachers in the department were Mr. Richard Frischling and Mr. John Culbert.

English

The English Department, headed by Mr. Frederick Oakes, reached the total of eight teachers. New staff members were Mr. John Culbert, Mrs. Marie Hartwell, and Mr. John Zwyna. In the past year there have been several changes in the department. Mr. Zwyna was the new director of dramatics, while Mr. Oakes headed all student publication work and journalism classes. The Creative Writing and Journalism Program was expanded to two classes with a total of thirty eight students. Several teachers introduced a more relaxed atmosphere into their classes with the addition of more audio-visual aids, debates and informal discussion groups. Through modern teaching techniques which stress student responsibility and individuality TFHS students were able to gain a better understanding of the English language.

Geometry; Algebra I

The signs of the changing times were evident in the Mathematics Department this year. The department headed by Mrs. Charlotte Schepp, who has completed her first year at T.F.H.S., has been updated by introducing plane and modern geometry in the sophomore year and algebra II in the junior year. These courses have been modernized with new terminology, concepts, and symbolism.

The members of the staff participated in a computer course at Mount Hermon. Math students were given the privilege of attending these sessions. While there, they used two teletype machines which are connected to a computer at Dartmouth. This project was sponsored by the National Science Foundation and the Montague School Committee, and proved to be a fascinating addition for many interested students.

Business Education

Fresh and exciting new ideas were introduced in the Business Department by three new teachers. To the expanding department, headed by Mr. Robert Avery, were added Mrs. Dorothy Richardson, Mrs. Judith Stockner and Mr. Paul Gigley. In various classes, work projects were set up to produce an office atmosphere. To help the students gain the complete feeling of an office, a secretarial pool was formed in Office Practice. Films were also shown depicting the duties of a secretary. Over all, the Business Department gave TFHS students a strong foothold in the business world of today.

Science

In keeping with the progressive spirit which was adopted this past year, the Science Department embarked on several new teaching inovations. In Biology, a series of film strips supplementing the various discussion topics was used extensively. Each student was also given the opportunity to learn about the structure of various species through laboratory disection. An Advanced Biology class was developed for students interested specifically in science. Although non-credit and only a half year in length, it proved to be beneficial to many students. Mr. Charles Galvin, department head, expressed the hope that next year the Chemistry and Physic classes will receive a supply of new equipment which has already been ordered. Plans have also been made to replace the General Science course by a class on Health and Hygiene next year. The department was enlarged with the addition of Mr. John Di Iorio.

U.S. History

The Social Studies Department, headed by Mr. Thomas Meehan, includes United States History and Civics, United States Government, Ancient and European History, Social Problems and Economics, and Problems of Democracy. This past year, Mrs. Judith Allen was welcomed as a member of the staff. Each division of the department recognizes the value of past and contemporary trends as the keys to the future. The U.S. History instructors have endeavored to acquaint students with the heritage of their country as well as to make the present more meaningful through an understanding of the past. The courses in the Problems of Democracy, U.S. Government and Social Problems and Economics found stimulus in the Presidential Election of 1968 which offered a basis for the study of government and history in the making. Ancient History classes have provided the foundation for all history studies. European History explored the government and philosophies of European cultures. The Social Studies Department has satisfied the need for an understanding of American society through the study of past generations, contemporary problems, and governmental procedures. It has broadened the student's outlook to include the past, the present and future.

Art

In the absence of a Music Department head, Mr. William Moulton capably took over the direction of the band and chorus. Mr. Moulton accepted this responsibility even though he also held a position on the junior high staff and music-minded students were grateful that their interest could be pursued without interruption.

Miss Mery O'Brien head of the Art Department, welcomed the assistance of Mrs. Georgiana Hall this past year. Through the use of paints, ink, pastels, paste, clay, cloth, and paper they gave the students a chance to express their individual talents. In the relaxed atmosphere of the art room, the students exercised their imaginations to create their own personal masterpieces. Along with the usual sketches and paintings, they produced collages, and sculptures, and they dabbled in block printing, silk screening, and stenciling. The art appreciation classes also took advantage of the informal mood to view and discuss traditional and contemporary art forms. Their studies were aided not only by film strips and slides but also by evaluating the works of fellow students.

Home Economics

In each department of TFHS innovations can be found, and the Industrial Arts and Home Economic Departments have been no exception. This past year, the daring idea of exchanging classes was put into effect. The students from shop enjoyed learning to bake brownies while they discovered the basics of cooking with Mrs. Patricia Lilley. They also studied other basic home economic subjects such as money management. The girls on the other hand, acquired the rudiments of wood working under the careful coaching of Mr. Richard Kossakoski. They made simple wood projects such as stools and boxes. Meanwhile regular courses were carried on each class. These extra projects were aimed at helping the non-college student prepare for the future.

Physical Education

Progress has been made the word for the Physical Education Department. In the past year, several changes have taken place. For the first time there was a second girls' gym teacher, Mrs. Cora Wasti. She and Mrs. Charlotte Robinson instructed the girls in the basics of field hockey, using the newly acquired equipment. Meanwhile more indoor sports were enjoyed with the introduction of the Cage Ball, a huge white canvas sphere.

The boys, under the direction of Mr. Harold Fugere, competed with each other in the traditional sports of basketball, crab soccer and wrestling.

Mrs. Ann Sabato, R.N., completed her second year at TFHS helping the students through another year of headaches, cuts and bruises with a strong hand and a sympathetic smile.

Yearbook

An unwavering quest for originality was the driving force behind the creation of the 1969 Yearbook. Many new, lively, creative sections were added, while at the same time meaningless material was eliminated. The total of all this breaking with tradition was a truely exciting journalistic masterpiece.

The main factor which made this fantastic success possible was that the Yearbook staff was literally swamped with talent. The presence of such clever people as Joanne Osowski, who created all the art work in the book, made it possible to put extremely competent persons in charge of the Yearbook. It was they, along with their staffs, who were responsible for this excellent finished product. With the availability of people with such impressive administrative ability, the editor, Timothy Garrand and supervisor, Mr. Frederick Oakes, had merely to take care of overall organization and handle any minor problems which arose. This combined effort made possible the production of the first yearbook in many years to finally break away from the smothering weight of tradition into the free open air of originality.

Teen Scene

Many students were able to demonstrate their journalistic ability through Teen Scene. Each week the students wrote news articles, editorials and features dealing with stimulating imaginative topics. TFHS' contribution to this page was accomplished through the combined efforts of editor Jane Petrin, a staff of writers, typists and a photographer. Advisor for the year was Mr. Frederick Oakes. This past year, most of the writing was done by the Journalism and Creative Writing classes, with assistance from other members of the student body.

Alter Ego

An annual publication is Alter Ego, which provides the students with an excellent view of their "inner-selves". Editor-in-Chief Christopher Connelly received a variety of impressive material, ranging from short stories and humorous plays to poetry and art work. The typing staff was under the direction of Theresa Puhala and Patricia Allen, while art work was screened by Janet Strysko and Gary Dargis. The production of this magazine involved the dedication of the entire Journalism and Creative Writing classes.

Once again the Netop greeted the student body in "printed" form instead of the mimeograph type of 1968. The staff worked diligently to solicit advertisements in order to help defray the cost of printing. They also poled their creative talents to produce a more interesting paper and introduced a saterical column called "The Prophet." The Netop sponsored the Pumpkin Prom, held on Halloween night, the proceeds of which helped to finance the printing. Gail Terlikoski acted as Editor-in-Chief. Faculty advisor was Mr. Frederick Oakes.

Camera Club

Fine arts discussed by Mary Letourneau.

The Camera Club, advised by Mr. Frederick Oakes, is an activity open only to seniors. This past year, the Camera Club was more closely associated with the Yearbook staff. For the first time, pictures were used to glamorize the advertising section. Club members also took many candids to be used in yearbook publication. The meetings of the Camera Club were informal and held once a month. The members were able to improve their own picture taking techniques in addition to mastering the essentials of photographic composition. Officers for the year were President, Joanne Osowski; Vice-president, Mary Latourneau; Secretary, Pam Bartlett and Treasurer, Keith Rovner.

Student Council

The Turners Falls Student Council was established in our Freshman year. Starting as a feeble yet energetic group, the Council grew into a strong and effective organization. Among the new projects which they sponsored were the annual Booster Day, the Student Lounge and improvement of the appearance of TFHS' halls. They also joined the New England Student Council Workshop and took over the support of an Asian orphan. The latest addition to their agenda was the Winter Carnival.

In the past two years the student body has given the Student Council increasing support and cooperation. Thus, the student body helps the Council to fulfill its three aims—to maintain school spirit, to serve as an advisory board to the principal and to create a closer relationship between the faculty and the student body.

Officers for the year were Robert Cadren, President; Timothy Garrand, Vice-president; Kathleen Baird, Secretary; and David Simanski, Treasurer.

Student Patrol

The Student Patrol, instituted and supervised by Mr. Thomas Meehan, completed its third year in operation. The members of the patrol, wearing new arm badges, served as monitors in the halls during and between classes. They were valuable supervisors during lunch period and insured the fulfillment of school regulations. The lounge supervisors endeavored to create a smooth running atmosphere in the student commons. The Patrol exemplifies the spirit of student responsibility at TFHS.

Art Club

Members of the Art Club worked on many of their projects during their art classes. Among their projects were designing covers for pamphlets and creating posters. To conclude the year, the members went to Boston to visit various art museums, including the Boston Museum of Fine Arts, the Gardner Museum and the Harvard Museum. There the students were able to see for themselves the works and techniques of famous artists.

Ski Club

The ski enthusiasts of T.F.H.S. eagerly got into action this past winter under the supervision of Mr. William Roberts. Early in the school year the club had its first meeting at which time officers were elected. Chosen were John Felton, President; David Simanski, Vice-president; Katie Sweeney, Secretary; and Edward Seredejko, Treasurer. Together with these officers, Mr. Roberts arranged for several excursions, a dance, and participation in Winter Carnival.

National Honor Society

The George F. Wrightson Chapter of the National Honor Society opened its doors to seven Juniors and thirteen more Seniors this past year, bringing the total membership to thirty students. Membership was based on the four qualities of scholarship, leadership, character and service, in which each candidate had to prove himself worthy. The faculty advisor was Mr. Thomas Meehan and officers were chosen from the ten Seniors who had been two year members. They were Christopher Connelly, President; Theresa Puhala, Vice-president; Janet Piecuch, Secretary and Mary Letourneau, Treasurer.

Jane Petrin, Barb Peskor and Chris Connelly light their candles at induction.

Commercial Club

Debby Bonnette and Eileen McCarthy strive for excellence.

To promote better understanding of the business world is the primary interest of the Commercial Club. Under the direction of Mr. Robert Avery and Mr. Paul Gigley, officers were elected. They were Patricia Golembeski, President; Christine Richotte, Vice-president; Dona Emond, Vice-president of Administrative Publicity and Public Relations; Deborah Bonnette, Secretary; and Eileen McCarthy, Treasurer. During the course of the year, the club took trips to business establishments. A new idea was proposed that some excursions be taken in "mini groups." These consisted of small groups of three or four members who visited establishments of their own interest. Guest speakers presented the members with a vast knowledge of different aspects of the business world. The Commercial Club had a very successful first year, and the benefits of this club will enrich the future business outlook of its members.

Future Teachers Of America

The Future Teachers of America was organized to further the development of educational values among students who wish to pursue a teaching profession. This past year knowledge was gained through contemporary lectures about such subjects as the importance of physical education and special education. A field trip was taken to Boston and a movie was viewed about gifted, underprivileged, children trying to gain a sufficient education. Many fund raising projects were held to provide scholarships for seniors who intend to teach. The officers were President, Jeffery Heath; Vice-president, Keith Rovner; Secretary, Constance Fugere; Treasurer, Kathleen Garrand; Historian, Jane Golonka; and Parliamentarian, Robert Cadren, all of whom were under the direction of club advisor, Mr. Philip Capen.

A.C.T.I.O.N.

A new club this past year, ACTION, or "Arts, Controversy, Travel in Our Nation" was founded by advisors, Mr. Philip Capen and Mrs. Marie Hartwell. The club consists of various committees and three officers: Cheryl Boulanger, Chairman; Patricia Wysk, secretary; and Mary Valley, treasurer. This active club was always on the "go." Their activities included two very successful dances, a trip to Springfield to see the movie "Romeo and Juliet," and an excursion to Northfield to see the "Afro-American Dancers." As a result this club has motivated more cultural interest within T.F.H.S.

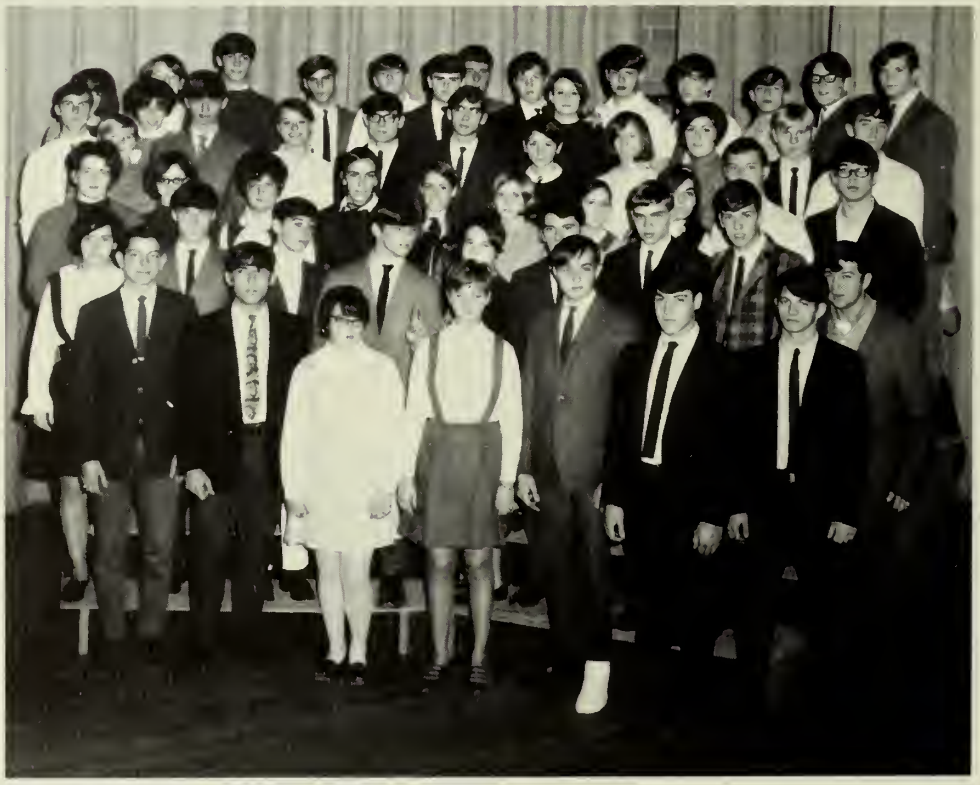
Contemporary Affairs Club



The Contemporary Affairs Club is an organization created exclusively for seniors. This past year the club attended seminars in Northampton to observe the essentials of hypnosis and its application in the field of medicine. The group also had several guest speakers and discussion groups throughout the year. This past year the Contemporary Affairs Club accomplished its purpose of presenting the problems of today's world.

Future Nurses Club

Mrs. Anne Sabato, school nurse, stimulated a wide interest in the nursing career by forming a Future Nurses Club. The main purpose of this organization was to inform the members of the wide variety of fields that branch from a nursing career. Some of the topics of discussion were the required studies while in high school and the selection of a college or nursing school. Under the leadership of officers, Suzanne Johnson, President; Anne Ryan, Vice - president; Mary Chittick, Secretary; and Pamela Noga, Treasurer, the club accomplished its objectives. This was done through visits to area hospitals, including Cooley Dickenson Hospital; guest speakers and the showing of films. Often these activities were conducted with other area Future Nurses Clubs.

Office Girls

At any time during a normal school day, it was not difficult to find a girl darting in and out of classrooms or scurrying down the halls to some unknown destination. More than likely she was one of a group of twenty-five students who served as Office Girls. Each girl gave up several of her free periods each week to act as a girl Friday for the administration and staff. Whether serving as the local pony express or falling into wastebaskets, the office girl's job was hectic, if not filled with a lot of fun.

Junior Prize Speaking

If one could see the eight people in the gym on the night of prize speaking, each in a corner rambling his part, some of outstretched arms and some gesturing, then they would also see eight people who worked many weeks in order to know their speech letter perfect with all the movements and accents recorded perfectly in their mind.

And then the time comes. Each has his own chance to face the crowded auditorium and capture each individual. The satisfaction is that they know they've worked hard, and the audience soon learns that they have.

The first prize went to Keith Rovner for a dramatic Biblical story of Moses leading the children of Israel into the "Promised Land." Second prize went to Constance Fugere for a truly hilarious scene of a Negro washer-woman crossing a golf course. And third prize went to Jane Golonka for an excellent protrayal of Lady MacBeth. Other contestants were Timothy Garrand, Christopher Connelly, Kathleen Garrand, Christie Sweeny and Sharon Leonis.

Junior Prom

The class of 1969 made the traditional Junior Prom one of the most memorable events in the history of the school. The class ingenuously transformed the gym into an oriental paradise. To contribute to the theme "Moon Over Keijo," a large lighted pagoda was built in the middle of an oriental garden complete with cherry trees and a bridge. A bright pink dragon, painted bamboo mats and cherry blossoms covered the other walls, while Japanese lanterns and colored lights completed the scene. The evening came to a climax with supper at the French King Restaurant and an exciting all-night party at the Old Stone Lodge.

Le Cercle Francais

Under the able supervision of Mrs. Irene Phelps, Le Cercle Francais had a successful year. Its thirty members met after school in the Student Lounge. The aim of the club was to familiarize students with French culture and customs. With the help of the French IV class, Mrs. Phelps prepared various dishes of French cuisine, including crepe suzettes and vanilla parfaite. Members acted out short plays and listened to reports on French painters. Officers for the year were Keith Rovner, President; Mary Letourneau, Vice-president; Kathleen Garrand, Secretary and Pamela Hardy, Treasurer.

Spanish Club

For the first time in the history of T.F.H.S., the Spanish Club was given the opportunity to travel abroad to Madrid, Spain. For one week, some forty students visited museums, famous landmarks and churches. Along with attending a bull fight the students also enjoyed the night life of Madrid. During the week of April 5-12, the students took part in the Easter celebrations. While in Europe the students were also given the opportunity to visit Rome, for several hours.

The advisors who planned this trip to Madrid were Mr. Richard Frischling and Mr. John Culbert. Officers were Pamela Bartlett, President; Michelle Verrier, Vice-President; Barbara Pieuch, Secretary; and Kathleen Garrand, Treasurer.

Theatre Workshop

Theatre Workshop, an essential part of TFHS, helped the students become aware of the essence of drama. The members have insight into the mainstream of theatre presentations and the amount of work required for theatre productions. Under the direction of Mr. John Zywna, the Workshop is open to all high school students and provides various plays as entertainment for the student body. Among those produced were "Opus I," and "The Storm."

A successful attempt on dramatic reading.

Can manakins really move? Mr. Zywna thinks so.

Home Economics Club

The Home Economics club was established this past year to increase interest and skills in homemaking. The members aided in preparations for the National Honor Society Tea and the Junior Prom. The girls also sold cookbooks as a money raising project. The funds were used to buy items for the home economics' room and to promote the club. Elected as President was Linda Graville; Vice-president, Ruth Allis; Secretary, Sandra Wasileski and Treasurer, Ellen Currie.

Chorus

The TFHS Chorus, under the supervision of Mr. William Moulton, gave students a basic background in diverse styles and forms of music. Rehearsals, every Tuesday and Thursday, prepared students for concerts. The Christmas Concert was a combination of precision, harmony and fine entertainment.

Varsity Cheerleaders

Do your own thing!

Spirit and pride led the way for many terrific Indian victories this past year. No one could have displayed more spirit and pride than the eleven girls who made up the '68-'69 Varsity Cheering Squad. Despite bruised knees and overworked muscles, these girls spent many hours practicing for rallies, tournaments, football games and basketball games. In addition to the Varsity Squad, with Marianne Martin as Captain, the Junior Varsity Squad led by Eileen McCarthy and the Freshman Squad headed by Susan Legere did much to arouse the enthusiasm at school events. Whether elated by victory or disappointed by defeat, the cheerleaders were a lively essential part of TFHS.

It only hurts when I laugh.

Twirlers

Varsity

Junior Varsity

Carol Dubriel stands on a desolated field.

Under Carol Dubreuil, captain, and Phyllis Tetreault, the Varsity Twirlers performed during the half-time of every football game. On special occasions the squad's mascot, Gail Broderick, marched with them. This squad of twelve girls practiced and perfected their routines with the Band during the seventh period of the school day.

Drum Majorette

Pamela Bartlett completed her third year as Drum Majorette and Feature Twirler. She had the honor of being the first sophomore ever chosen for Drum Majorette.

Colorguard

The colorguard increased in number from six to eight this past year. As a result of the expanded membership, the complexity of their routines was increased.

For the first time, a Junior Varsity Twirling Squad was initiated. Working with the Varsity, Captain Pamela Noga and Lieutenant Mary Jane Breault and their squad demonstrated their ability to stand on their own as successful twirlers.

Band

There are many ways of making music. However, the only way one can play good music is through practice, experience and musicianship. In our high school band one can learn all three and still have fun.

The first preparation starts even before school opens, when it is possible to see rank and file marching in practice for the football season on the field or on the streets near school.

After many a parade and many a half-time show, the band settles down for a long winter full of concert season. Now, any seventh period class is accompanied by background music made by the hard-working band members and the mighty maestro, Mr. William Moulton.

And, who can forget how the band peps up the rallies! We certainly have a fine band that we can be proud to represent our high school wherever we go.

Mr. Thomas Meehan, Class Advisor

"If we would look back at the lives we led . . ."

As members of the Class of 1969, we can look back with pride at our days at Turners Falls High School. In the midst of unfamiliar leaders, changing programs, and novel ideas, we worked as one and instituted in each change a distinct challenge. Together we learned not only to accept change, but to demand it.

" . . . we could find a quality of the imagination . . ."

We were a class endowed with creativity and displayed our ability and spirit in the presentation of our Junior Prom, "Moon over Keijo," in the transposing of the theme of universal peace to our Yuletide decor, and in the creation of our Snoopy Dog which displayed the pride of '69 as it made its way through the roadways of our town. We strove for imagination in the publication of our Netop, Teen Scene, and Alter Ego, and attained the essence of inventiveness in Peske Tuk '69.

" . . . a predominance of courage over timidity . . ."

Our class was not one to be dismayed by vigorous adversaries. Nothing could have manifested more courage than the dedication of our skilled Cross Country stars, the determination of our football team which captured tremendous Booster Day and Turkey Day victories, and the astounding performances of our basketball players who earned recognition as the "Kardiac Kids."

" . . . a temper of the will and the appetite for adventure over the love of ease . . ."

We took pride in the accomplishments of our Junior Prize Speakers for they signified an ultimate fineness. As the final curtain concluded our Senior Play, we had once again demonstrated that success is attained through diligence, unity, and a yearning for achievement. In each of our endeavors we were bound by a desire to conquer mediocrity. We assumed each new task with greater earnestness being secure in the knowledge that in striving for excellence we could fulfill this desire.

Constantly helping us to achieve our goals was our Class Advisor, Mr. Thomas Meehan. His continuous efforts to arouse class unity and involvement inspired each of us to seek perfection in all of our undertakings. His presence was felt throughout T.F.H.S. as he served as faculty advisor for Student Council, National Honor Society, and Contemporary Affairs Club. His work extended far beyond regular school hours for he took a personal interest in his students and assisted many in planning for a rewarding future. Mr. Meehan, a man of wit, wisdom, and ideals, will remain in our image as a true apostle of change.

And now, enriched by a past which we have shared, we look ahead as individuals to unexplored horizons and will begin our search for Acropolis.

"If we would look back at the lives we led, we know above all that we will judge ourselves by the hope and direction we have left behind."

This past year's football team, while sporting a 4-5 record, exemplified the spirit of TFHS by playing with a determination that was second to none. The work that these boys put in was shown by way of always exciting, but sometimes erratic performances.

The team, headed by Coach Jack Bassett and assistant coaches John Zywna and Paul Cournoyer, played games which were characterized by speed in Mark Barber, agility in Mark Galvis, evenness of performance in quarterbacks Gerald Welcome and Arthur Burke and the uncanny pass-catching ability of David Murley. Co-captains for the season were Robert Cadren, Mark Galvis and Michael Lewandowski.

The season proved to be plagued by injuries and ill luck, but these only served to enhance the determination in each succeeding game. The Booster Day victory over Pittsfield embodied not only the undying perseverance of the team, but also of TFHS. The conclusion of the season removed all doubts as to the caliber of our team. The momentum for the heralded Turkey Day clash began with a preliminary rout of Northampton. An irrefutable Turners' victory and a class 3-1 record over Greenfield set up a dynasty which we sincerely hope will be continued.

Cross Country

Showing remarkable team depth and consistent performance in important meets, the cross country team posted an 11 to 1 record, losing only one meet to tough Amherst Regional by a single point. The addition of new talent to the team turned what would have been a moderately good team into the number two squad in Western Massachusetts. The Blues, coached by Mr. Robert Avery, placed second in the Western Massachusetts Meet, which qualified the team for the State meet. There they placed thirteenth among the top teams in the State, an excellent showing for a Western Massachusetts school.

Cross country team-mates, Chris Connelly, Dave Adie and Pete Mosseau head for an other practice.

Basketball

The 1968-69 Indian Basketball quintet proved to be a hard working team. With three starters from '68's squad returning, the squad had equal strength from which to choose its remaining two starters. Lacking height, the Indians battled bigger teams early in the season only to be put down seven times in a row. They came on strong in the second half of the season, winning five in a row and beaten only by league leading South Hadley, 48-45.

Along with Co-Captains David Murley and Jeffery Heath and Junior Arthur Burke, the starting line-up was often diversified with Seniors David Adie, Jan Wondoloski, Robert Gillon, Junior Mark Millet, and Sophomore Richard Cadran.

With a narrow winning season, the Indians gave extremely rewarding games to the fans as the team became known as the "Kardiac Kids" for their last minute victories.

Now boys, let's not fight!

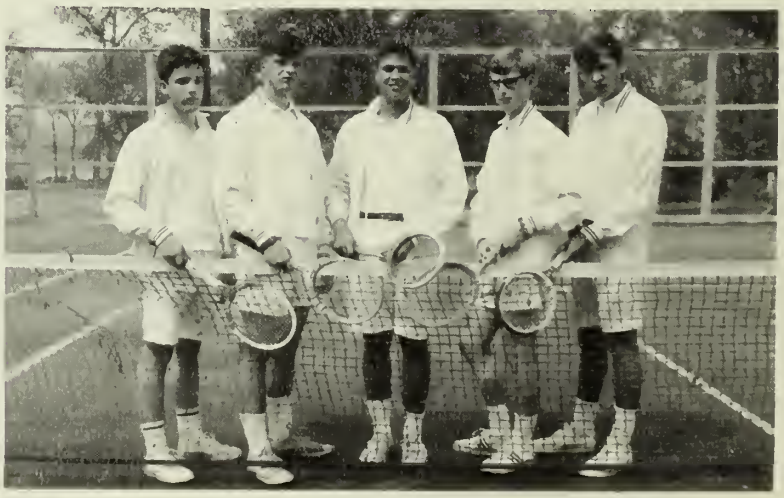
Tennis

Having had a sparkling 6-3-1 record in 1968, Coach George Bush's tennis team had only two returning veterans, Edward Bourbeau and William Beaureguard. Their 1969 season was composed of twelve individual matches and many tense moments.



Turners Falls varsity tennis team.

Baseball

After finishing the 1968 season with an outstanding record, many veteran baseball players returned for the 1969 season. Under the direction of James Koldis, Varsity coach, John Zywna, Junior Varsity coach, and Freshman coach, Ray Garbiel, this past year's baseball teams had a very good season. Baseball involves hard work, lots of practice and sheer determination. Our boys have long been noted for their sportsmanship and fighting spirit. With the backing from the best coaches and daily practice sessions, our boys were ready to go out and make the season successful. More than ever the blue and white colors stood out victoriously as our boys stamped their opponents into the ground.

Turners Falls' varsity takes time out for the big times.

Track

Although the 1968 trackmen failed to claim a victory, the season was marked by outstanding individual accomplishments. The hope for the spring of 1969 was for a more successful season with a strong distance contingent and returning lettermen. Robert Gillon and Peter Mosseau in the mile and Christopher Connelly and Edward Sargent in the two mile provided consistent points, while Mark Barber in the hurdles and Robert Pagoda in the half mile performed uniformly well. These members form the active nucleus of the TFHS track team.

Roland Parenteau aims carefully and prepares to putt.

Golf

In 1968 the Golf Team was highly successful in their endeavors on the meadows of our many country clubs in Massachusetts. The squad, led by Arthur Burke and Joseph Golonka, holding the top two spots, had a 8-2-1 season and then went on to the Western Massachusetts Meet taking second place. Returning this year with Coach Paul Cournoyer were three out of 1968's top six with several alternates taking over spots left by graduates. The alternates, Roland Parenteau, Bruce Morin, and James Garrand along with newcomers Robert Cooper and Walter Wysk, hope to add sufficient depth and support to come out with an equally victorious season.

Girls' Athletic Association

The Girls' Athletic Association, organized in 1967, is aimed at providing scholarships and recognition to those girls participating in athletics. This year the girls elected Anna Garbiel, President; Patricia Crosby, Vice-president; Patricia Wysk, Secretary, and Helen Zukowski, Treasurer. Under the guidance of Mrs. Charlotte Robinson, girls' athletic advisor, the club raised funds by selling such things as Booster Day banners, Thanksgiving Day stickers and by sponsoring food sales at local stores. The funds they raised by these activities are used to award trophies to deserving girls at the annual athletic awards assembly. Along with awarding trophies the Girls' Athletic Association also aims at fostering a greater interest in sports such as softball, volleyball, and basketball.

Girl's Softball

Good sportsmanship and interest were key words that described the members of the girl's softball team. Under the direction of Coach Charlotte Robinson and Mrs. Cora Wasti, the girls practiced several days a week in preparation for their games. Even though the girls lost several games, they won in other ways, for they learned good sportsmanship and the fun of playing as a team.

Girls' Basketball

Put it right in there.

The girls' varsity and junior varsity basketball teams, under the supervision of Coach Charlotte Robinson, had a rewarding season. Both teams had numerous practices which led them toward victory. These girls did not only learn the plays of this athletic sport, but also team work under game pressure. Varsity captain Christine Richotte aided the team with her rapid dribbling and sharp-eyed shooting. The concluding highlight of the season was victory in the Western Massachusetts Invitation Girls Basketball Tournament.
